This paper reviews methods for reducing different optical and electrical loss mechanisms in PV modules and for increasing the optical gains in order to achieve higher CTM ratios.

Light Absorption (and Optical Losses)

Photons that aren''t absorbed can''t be used to create useful energy. (not absorbed means transmitted or reflected.) Only absorbed energy can make useful energy, thus we want to maximize this fraction! •

Optical Return Loss Measurement

ORL is defined as the ratio of light reflected back from an element in a device to the light launched into that element. This is usually represented as a positive number in decibels (dB). The mathematical
